Accommodation on campus	The individual student rooms are normally located in either the international house or in a "kot-à-projet (KAP)". A KAP is a shared living arrangement in a house, hallway or floor composed of 6-12 students who, while living together with shared bathrooms and kitchens, but individual rooms, are carrying out a project under a certain theme. Such a project may involve organizing activities for other students as well as nearby residents and their children. Each KAP specializes in a specific field, for example relating to culture, humanitarian or social assistance, sports, or the protection of the environment.
